The Glasgow City Council met in regular session on Monday evening with a few old business items.

The second reading of a false alarm ordinance was approved. The ordinance is an effort to prevent multiple false alarms that local police respond to. The ordinance lays out penalties for false alarms after three written warnings starting at $25 and gradually increasing. Glasgow Police Chief Guy Howie said at the first reading many of these false alarms can be prevented with simple training for employees and knowing the codes. Businesses and homeowners will be able to appeal fines to the public safety committee.

Municipal orders re-appointing Terry Fisher and Scott W. Owens to the Glasgow Municipal Airport Board; and W. Keith Rowlett re-appointed to the board of directors of the Glasgow Electric Plant Board.
