fees more than $9 per credit hour over the next two academic years. The maximum increase allowed in any one year is $6 per credit hour, with a $3 per credit hour increase in the other year.

If institutions elect to raise tuition and fees to the maximum allowed, the average system increase would be 3.8% in 2025-26 and 1.9% in 2026-27, amounting to 5.7% over the next two years.

Tuition and fee rates for graduate and online programs, as well as for out-of-state and international students, are not subject to CPE ceilings. However, institutions must adhere to CPE guidelines and policies when setting rates.

“CPE worked with public colleges and universities to negotiate ceilings that minimize financial strain to students while allowing institutions some flexibility in dealing with inflationary pressures and economic uncertainties,” said Dr. Aaron Thompson, CPE President. “What matters most is ensuring postsecondary education is affordable and accessible for Kentuckians.”

The CPE board also approved new academic programs at the following institutions:

- Kentucky State University: Master of Science in biological and agricultural engineering; Master of Science in criminal justice; Master of Social Work
- Morehead State University: Doctor of Engineering in systems engineering
- Murray State University: Associate of Science in dental hygiene
- University of Kentucky:

Master of Accounting in accountancy and analytics; Doctor of Audiology

- Western Kentucky University — Bachelor of Science in user experience
