plays as a dual-threat quarterback.

“Watch every game he plays, he makes plays,” Stoops said. “We just have to make enough on top of it. Yes, we have to be very organized in our pass rush lanes and be very disciplined, win (matchups), play very hard, play all the way through the whistle, cover guys down the field.”

The Commodores (8-2, 4-2) are undefeated at home this season and will be looking to go undefeated at FirstBank Stadium for the first time since 1982.

Chiefs assistant Dave Toub: President Trump 'doesn't even know what he's looking at' on NFL kickoffs

BY DAVE SKRETTA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Kansas City Chiefs special teams coach Dave Toub doesn't care a whole lot about what President Donald Trump thinks of new kickoff rules that were implemented by the NFL in an attempt to make the play safer and more exciting.

Trump became the first sitting president to attend a regular-season NFL game since Jimmy Carter in 1978 when he attended a game between the Washington Commanders and Detroit Lions earlier this month.

Two days later, Trump appeared on "The Pat McAfee Show" and torched the league's dynamic kickoff rule, which owners voted to make permanent this year. Under the rule, the ball is kicked from the 35-yard line, but every player on the kicking team must wait at the 40 until the ball hits the ground or is touched by a returner inside the 20-yard line.

There are also rules for if a ball does not reach the landing zone, hits the landing zone without being caught or lands in the end zone.

“I think it's so terrible. I think it's so demeaning, and I think it hurts the game. It hurts the pageantry,” Trump said. "I've told that to (NFL Commissioner) Roger Goodell, and I don't think it's any safer. I mean, you still have guys crashing into each other."

The league has maintained the dynamic kickoff system is safer while producing more kickoff returns. And Toub, who has spent more than two decades coaching special teams in Chicago and Kansas City, didn't hold back Thursday when he was asked what he thought of the president's pointed criticism of the kickoff rules.
