

Isaiah House to host Inaugural Hope & Healing 5K in Lexington

Funds will help provide essential care for Kentuckians seeking freedom from addiction

SUBMITTED

Isaiah House Treatment Center will host its first Hope & Healing 5K on Saturday, July 19, beginning at 8 a.m. at Coldstream Park in Lexington. The event is open to runners and walkers of all levels and aims to raise awareness and funds for Kentuckians seeking recovery from substance use disorder.

Proceeds from the race will support treatment for individuals who are unable to secure payment or insurance coverage for addiction services.

“Sixty percent of the clients who come to us are homeless,” said Kara Ball, Chief Development Officer at Isaiah House. “We try to remove every barrier possible for those seeking help, and we never want cost to be the reason someone can’t access treatment.”

Treatment centers across the state, including Isaiah House, have recently been affected by cuts in payments from Managed Care Organizations, reducing key sources of funding.

“These cuts could have devastating consequences for those battling addiction,” Ball said. “We are actively pursuing new ways to fund the services that Medicaid used to cover so we can continue saving lives.”

Participants in the Hope &

Healing 5K will follow a flat, paved course along Lexington’s Legacy Trail. The event will include commemorative T-shirts, free race photos and awards for top finishers by age group. A virtual participation option is also available.

The race also celebrates Isaiah House’s growing presence in the Lexington area. In 2024, the organization opened the Isaiah House Community Health Center in Lexington, expanding access to outpatient and behavioral health services.

Elizabeth Walker, Public Relations Manager for Isaiah

House, plans to attend the race. She entered treatment in 2023 after struggling with addiction for 28 years.

“I don’t think any other program would have been as life-changing for me as Isaiah House was,” Walker said. “Every dollar raised is so important. I cannot think of a better cause. It has monumental, life-changing effects.”

Race morning packet pickup will be available from 6:30 to 7:45 a.m. at Coldstream Park.

To register or learn more, visit www.isaiah-house.org/5k or call 859-375-9200.

ABOUT ISAIAH HOUSE

Isaiah House is Kentucky’s largest non-profit addiction recovery organization, providing comprehensive, personalized and evidence-based services to individuals with substance use disorders (SUD) in a Christ-centered setting for more than 25 years.

Kansas Republican senate president announces 2026 gubernatorial bid

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA, Kan. — Kansas Senate President Ty Masterson entered the race for governor on Sunday as the 2026 Republican primary field gets more crowded.

Republicans are keen to recapture the governor’s office in GOP-leaning Kansas after Democratic Gov. Laura Kelly narrowly won a second four-year term in 2022. Kelly is term-limited and cannot run again.

Masterson, a small-business owner, has been a state senator representing a district in eastern Kansas since 2009. He became Senate president in 2021.

He previously served in the Kansas House of Representatives from 2005 to 2008.

Other Republicans in the 2026 governor's race include Secretary of State Scott Schwab, who built his public profile pushing back against unfounded election conspiracy theories, and former Gov. Jeff Colyer.

Colyer was elevated to the office for about a year in 2018 after former Gov. Sam Brownback resigned. He failed to get past the primary in that year's gubernatorial election, then entered the 2022 governor's race but dropped out early after being diagnosed with prostate cancer.
