needs to end, and I'll lead the fight with Senator Banks to make sure this is done."

During his State of the Union address, Trump emphasized the urgency of the legislation, calling out the dangers posed by undocumented drivers. "Many, if not most, illegal aliens do not speak English and cannot read even the most basic road signs as to direction, speed, danger, or location," he said. "That's why tonight, I'm calling on Congress to pass what we will call the Dalilah Law, barring any state from granting commercial driver's licenses to illegal aliens."

Department of Homeland Security Secretary Kristi Noem also expressed her support for the measure, highlighting the need for justice for families affected by crimes committed by undocumented individuals. "What happened to Dalilah

Coleman is a tragedy that could have been prevented if California did not grant commercial driver's licenses to illegal aliens who should have never been here in the first place," Noem said. "DHS is working every single day to remove dangerous criminal illegal aliens who are unlawfully in the U.S."
