school students to experience hands-on programming and showcase their talents in real-world competitions, but none of this happens without donor support,” said Natalee Brown, director of recruitment and event coordinator for Trade Wars.

Without the generous contributions from business and industry partners and the devotion contributed by MCTC staff and faculty, Trade Wars would not be the event it is today.

“We are calling on additional industry partners to step forward now so we can continue to provide high school students with the incredible experience that Trade Wars affords,” Brown remarked. “Your gift today directly fuels the workforce of tomorrow. An investment today powers hands-on learning and builds tomorrow’s skilled workforce.”

This perspective was shared by Slone.

“This transformative experience is only possible through the vision and generosity of our industry partners. By sponsoring Trade Wars, you aren't just putting your brand in front of hundreds of future employees; you are directly investing in the talent pipeline that will sustain your business and our regional economy for decades to come. Join us in championing these students and securing the future of our workforce,” he said.

There are four categories that sponsors can choose from. These include bronze ($500), silver ($750), gold ($1,000), and platinum ($4000). The benefits of each sponsorship are listed below.

Bronze Sponsors: Company logo on bronze sponsor group signage, recognition in printed materials, recognition on MCTC website and social media, booth space reserved.

Silver Sponsors: Company logo on silver sponsor group signage, recognition in printed materials, recognition on MCTC website and social media, both space reserved.
