MAJOR LEAGUES

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Day'Ron Sharpe matched a season high with 19 points, Ochai Agbaji added 18 and the Brooklyn Nets beat the injury-plagued Memphis Grizzlies 126-115 on Monday night for their second straight victory.

Nolan Traore added 17 points for the Nets, who were coming off an improbable 107-105 win at Eastern Conference-leading Detroit on Saturday night that snapped a 10-game skid.

The Nets, who rested leading scorer Michael Porter Jr., had six players score in double figures. The Grizzlies had only eight players available.

Ryan Rupert scored a career-high 20 points and Javon Small added 19 for Memphis, which has lost four straight and 11 of 14.

Brooklyn led by single digits throughout the third quarter before taking control early in the fourth. Traore made a 3-pointer that put the Nets ahead 101-90, and Agbaji followed with two buckets off feeds by Ziaire Williams for a 15-point lead.

Brooklyn had a 67-40 advantage in bench points.

Earlier Monday, the Nets announced that Egor Demin will miss the rest of the season with plantar fasciitis in his left foot. The 6-foot-8 rookie averaged 10.3 points in 52 games.

"We were hard on them at halftime, but you could really tell that all they wanted to do was get back out there and try to turn things in our favor," said Collins, on the Lady Lakers' halftime adjustments. "We started switching defensively, we hadn't done that a lot, nobody had seen it from us and that put them on their heels. Then we started blitzing them, then went back to man. We just wanted to keep switching things up and keep them guessing." Responsible for four points of that quarter-closing run, Koch would take over for the Lady Lakers once the final frame began, vaulting the Lakers into their first lead of the night. As the defense held the Lady Mustangs to just two points through the first four minutes, Koch would turn in three buckets for seven points at the other end for the 42-41 lead. Down the stretch, nearly three minutes of clean defense at either end would keep the score unchanged heading into the final minute. While a three for Mason Clements briefly put McCracken back in front, Lowe would find space in the paint for an instant response up the court, with her team-leading 18th point of the evening holding up to give the Lady Lakers the 45-44 win and the First Region title. "We knew whose hands we needed to get the ball into. Jaidan was looking for Saylor on that play, she found her and Saylor finished," Collins continued. "We were tense, we were tired, but we never gave up. The girls just kept on fighting, and once they flipped that switch, they couldn't turn it off. It's a credit to them and the lessons they've learned, they're not going to fold when things aren't going their way." Now, attention for the Lady Lakers shifts to Lexington for the KHSAA Sweet Sixteen. Waiting for them at Rupp Arena is the Assumption Rockets, fresh off their win over five-time defending state champions Sacred Heart in the Seventh Region Championship.
