

Casey County Hospital cuts ribbon on new administration building

By Donna Carman/Casey County Hospital

Casey County Hospital held a ribbon-cutting and Open House on Saturday, March 22, to officially open its new Administration Offices Building. The new structure is the top half of a two-story building that houses Casey County Primary Care on the first floor. That section faces Wallace Wilkinson Boulevard, and held its Open House and grand opening Feb. 1. The event on Saturday also featured tours of the new building and refreshments. On hand for the ribbon-cutting were, from left, Nicki Johnson, Chairman of the Liberty/Casey County Chamber of Commerce; City Councilman Lewis Allen; community member Robert Ross; Dr. Housam Haddad, Medical Director of CCH and also Mayor of the City of Liberty; Cindy Meyer, Assistant Administrator; Karen Atwood, CCH Board Member; Rusty Tungate, Administrator/CEO; Ronald Wright and Eddie Wesley, CCH Board Members; Tom Weddle, Casey County Attorney; and Karen Goode and Jerry Atwood, Chamber of Commerce officers. Other hospital employees and community members are in the background.
