

The Center for Rural Development accepting grant applications for 2025 ARC mini grants

Special to Appalachian Newspapers

The Center for Rural Development is accepting grant applications for the 2025 Kentucky Appalachian Regional Commission mini-grant program.

The mini-grant program (sometimes referred to as the Flex-E-Grant program), according to a statement from the Appalachian Regional Commission, is open to qualified local units of government and non-profit entities in Floyd, Johnson, Perry and Pike counties for capacity-building planning and implementation projects.

Other counties within The Center's service area that are eligible to apply include: Bath, Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Casey, Clay, Clinton, Elliott, Estill, Harlan, Jackson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, McCreary, Menifee, Metcalfe, Morgan, Owsley, Rockcastle, Rowan, Russell, Wayne, Whitley and Wolfe.

The mini-grant program provides strategic investments in projects that build community capacity to mobilize local resources, gain leadership experience and strengthen community institutions and network, the statement said.

Grants are subject to approval for up to $10,000, require a 20 percent match of total project costs, and are to be completed within a six-month timeframe. Mini-grants are available on a reimbursement basis only.

For more information or to download a request for proposal, visit, <https://center-tech.com/arc-mini-grant-flex-e-grant/>.

All grant applications and supporting documents must be submitted to The Center for Rural Development by 5 PM (EDT) on May 2. Digital files are preferred and may be emailed to, arc@centertech.com.

For questions about the application process or program guidelines, please call, (606) 677-6000, or email, jvanthournout@centertech.com.

The Center for Rural Development administers programs funds in partnership with the Kentucky Department for Local Government and the ARC.

Pikeville Rotary Club members get presented with Paul Harris Fellow pins

At the Mar. 19 Pikeville Rotary Club meeting, Mohinder Paul Randhawa, Pikeville Medical Center Cardiothoracic Surgeon and Charles Wayne Hancock, Executive Vice President/Senior Staff Attorney at Community Trust Bank, were presented with Paul Harris Fellow pins and certificates by Rotarian Frank Dawahare and Pikeville Rotary Club President Novella Bentley Froman. "These two individuals, Charles Wayne Hancock and Dr. Paul Randhawa, are now part of a select group. Your dedication to the foundation is deeply appreciated and it's wonderful to see you both step into this role." Dawahare said.
