light pollution, and noise from trucks and other vehicles.”
However, several residents who live in close proximity to the proposed project were present at the Plan Commission’s public hearing on the application and voiced concerns and opposition to the gas station including traffic issues and congestion and decreased land values of nearby homes.

The Plan Commission ultimately voted that the proposed development should receive an unfavorable recommendation to the Carrollton City Council in that it is “inconsistent with and detrimental to the bordering residential neighborhood,” and that “public health, safety, and welfare will be detrimentally affected” and the project “would cause a nuisance to the general public, and specifically to the residents.”

Marsh, speaking to the Council on behalf of Patel,
