the Kentucky Hydro-Electric Company. A 20-year franchise to furnish light and power was sold for $560.

Weird Corn
Melbourne Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurd Hawkins of the Gilbert Creek neighborhood, brought to this office a rather peculiar ear of corn. It has eight ears branching from the main stalk. They were all neatly housed in one shuck.

Five boys, giving their names as Howard Pulliam, Kent Frederick, Hargis Todd, Harry Hatterick, and Charles Bolin of Lexington were arrested here early Monday by Policeman Robert Searce. The boys, their ages ranging from 16 to 20 were bumming on the Southern Railway and said they were going to Louisville to witness the Labor Day automobile races in the city.

Phil Sharp of Lexington, brother of Geo. W. Sharp of Anderson county, in company with Owen Vaughn, also of Lexington, fished four hours in the Dix Dam lake last week and caught 179 fish weighing 54 pounds. They used 180 minnows and there were four or five bass in the lot, the rest being New Lights.

The Anderson County Bearcats dropped their second game of the season to a strong Woodford County Yellow Jackets team by a score of 34-09.

Accepts Position
Charles William Crain Jr., of Lawrenceburg, has accepted a teaching position in the Grayson County school system. Crain is a 1972 graduate of Anderson County High School and a 1976 graduate of Athens State College, Athens, Alabama. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Crain Sr., of Lawrenceburg.

2016 Getting Ugly
Any hopes that the jail budget would get some relief were dashed in August when the number of prisoners transported came in at a near-record high. Jailer Joani Clark reported transporting 117 prisoners during the month, just shy of the record of 123 in May.

New Facility
When Russell Vaden was looking for a place to call home, he liked what he saw in Lawrenceburg. After living in Anderson County for a while, the sorts enthusiast saw an unmet need for those who wanted to work their games regardless of the weather. The idea of the Bearcat Den was hatched. The facility will be located next to Newby's Furniture, near Kroger and KORT Physical Therapy.
