everybody involved, and it really just continues to substantiate the work everyone on the team has done for the past 12, 13, 14 years to build and develop the DAM when you have acts at this stage of their career celebrating five decades and still relevant," Eric continued. "It just doesn't get any better."

Formed in New York City in the late 1970s, the British-American group found immediate chart success with the release of the 1977 self-titled debut album, with singles like "Cold as Ice" and "Feels Like the First Time" becoming top five hits on the U.S. Billboard Hot 100. The record itself went on to peak at No. 4 on the Billboard 200 Albums chart.

The release of the record "Double Vision" the following year saw the band continue to build on its success, eventually going on to earn 7x Platinum certification by the Recording Industry Association of America and earning the No. 3 spot on the albums chart. Songs such as "Hot Blooded" and the single of the same name of the album would also earn the band two additional top three hits.

Foreigner saw additional commercial success in 1981 with the release of the fourth studio album, "4" — giving the band its sole No. 1 album and would produce hits including "Juke Box Hero," "Urgent" and "Waiting for a Girl Like You." The record itself would earn the longest stay at the top spot of the charts than any other artist in Atlantic Records' near eight-decade history.

In 1984, the band would release the soft rock power ballad "I Want to Know What Love Is" off its fifth album effort "Agent Provocateur," giving the group a No. 1 hit and a nomination for "Best Pop Performance By A Duo Or Group With Vocal" at the 28th annual Grammy Awards. Since then, Foreigner has sold over 80 million albums worldwide, 10 multi-platinum albums and 16 top 30 hits — nine of which earning top 10 distinction. The group was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2024.

The band's current lineup consists of lead vocalist Luis Carlos Maldonado, bassist Jeff Pilson, keyboard player Michael Bluestein, guitarist Bruce Watson, guitarist John Roth and drummer Chris Frazier.

"They are up there in the upper echelon of your classic rock giants — up there with Journey, or Fleetwood Mac, your Bob Segers, your Pink Floyds," Eric said of the group. "There's few bands that elicit that much emotion and that much meaning — just in their name."

Eric said securing Foreigner to play at the DAM has been a goal since "day one," noting Beaver Dam Mayor Paul Sandefur "led the charge" and "really wanted" the group to perform at the venue "if at all possible."

"We've been working on them for the better part of six or seven years," Eric said, who mentioned he and those who were aware had to be quiet about the booking for the last six months. "... They were playing huge markets, huge rooms and doing business elsewhere where the routing didn't work or the scheduling didn't work. They were booked up in advance on big tours.

"It's a time game and a relationship game, and this year the stars aligned with everything," Eric said. "Good things come to those who wait, and we are stoked as can be that it's happening."

The group has also been a popular request from patrons, Eric said.

"(Foreigner) is one (of the suggestions) every year when people chime in. They're right up there at the top; everybody wants Foreigner," he said.

"It's funny because they're doing a big tour this year with Lynyrd Skynyrd and I think a lot of our fans thought Foreigner wasn't going to happen again this year, so it's even more exciting and gives us warm fuzzies that were able to present them at the DAM. "The show they put on is still every bit, arguably more powerful just because of how it's aged, and grown and developed than ever," Eric added. "... Musicians (are at) the top of their game, vocals on point, songs played just like you heard them on the vinyl record back in the 70s and 80s. It is legit bad to the bone." Artist fan club and venue presale begins at 10 a.m. Wednesday to 11:59 p.m. Thursday. Password can be retrieved by signing up for the newsletter at beaverdamamp.com. Public ticket sales will begin at 10 a.m. Friday and can be found at ETIX.com or beaverdamamp.com. A limited number of VIP packages are also available. "We do expect brisk sales for this concert, and we want folks who want to attend certainly to be able to," Eric said. "I would buy the tickets sooner rather than later."
